Ode to Newfoundland

When sun-rays crown thy pine-clad hills,
And summer spreads her hand,
When silvern voices tune thy rills,
We love thee, smiling land.
We love thee, we love thee,
We love thee, smiling land.

When spreads thy cloak of shimm'ring white,
At Winter's stern command,
Thro' shortened day and starlit night,
We love thee, frozen land,
We love thee, we love thee,
We love thee, frozen land,

When blinding storm gusts fret thy shore,
And wild waves lash thy strand,
Thro' sprindrift swirl and tempest roar,
We love thee, wind-swept land,
We love thee, we love thee,
We love thee, wind-swept land.

As loved our fathers, so we love
Where once they stood we stand;
Their prayer we raise to Heaven above,
God guard thee, Newfoundland.
God guard thee, God guard thee
God guard thee Newfoundland.
Ode to Labrador

Dear land of mountains, woods and snow,
Labrador, our Labrador.
God’s noble gift to us bestow,
Labrador, our Labrador.
Thy proud resources waiting still,
Their splendid task will soon fulfill,
Obedient to thy Maker’s will,
Labrador, our Labrador.

Thy stately forests soon shall ring,
Labrador, our Labrador.
Responsive to the woodsman’s swing,
Labrador, our Labrador.
And mighty floods that long remained,
Their raging fury unrestrained,
Shall serve the purpose God ordained,
Labrador, our Labrador.

We love to climb thy mountains steep,
Labrador, our Labrador.
And paddle on thy waters deep,
Labrador, our Labrador.
Our snowshoes scar thy trackless plains,
We seek no city streets nor lanes,
We are thy sons while life remains,
Labrador, our Labrador.
I’se the B’y
(sing-along)

I'se the b'y that builds the boat
And I'se the b'y that sails 'er
I'se the b'y that catches the fish
And takes 'em home to Lizer.

Hip your partner Sally Thibeau
Hip your partner Sally Brown
Fogo, Twillingate, Morton's Harbour
All around the circle

Sods and rinds to cover yer flake,
Cake and tea for supper,
Codfish in the spring o’ the year
Fried in maggoty butter.

I don't want your maggoty fish
That’s no good for winter.
I could buy as good as that
Down in Bonavista.

I took Lizer to a dance
And faith but she could travel!
And every step that she did take
Was up to her knees in gravel.

Susan White, she’s out of sight,
Her petticoat wants a border
Old Sam Oliver, in the dark,
He kissed her in the corner.
There's lots of fish in Bonavist Harbour,
Lots of fish right in around here;
Boys and girls are fishin' together,
Forty-five from Carbonear.

Oh, - Catch-a-hold this one,
Catch-a-hold that one,
Swing around this one, swing around she;
Dance around this one, dance around that one,
Diddle dum this one, diddle dum dee.

Oh, - Sally got a bouncin' new baby,
Father said that he didn't care
Because he liked the feller from Fortune,
What was down here fishin' last year.

Oh, - Sally goes to church every Sunday,
Not for to sing nor for to hear;
But to see the feller from Fortune,
What was down here fishin' last year.
Let Me Fish off Cape St. Mary’s
(sing-along)

Take me back to my Western boat,
Let me fish off Cape St. Mary's
Where the hagdowns sail and the foghorns wail
With my friends the Browns and the Clearys.
Let me fish off Cape St. Mary's.

Let me feel my dory lift
To the broad Atlantic combers
Where the tide rips swirl and the wild ducks whirl
Where Old Neptune calls the number
'Neath the broad Atlantic combers . . .

Let me sail up Golden Bay
With my oilskins all a streamin' . . .
From the thunder squall when I hauled me trawl
And my old Cape Ann a gleamin'
With my oil skins all a streamin' . . .

Let me view that rugged shore,
Where the beach is all a-glisten
With the Caplin spawn where from dusk to dawn
You bait your trawl and listen
To the undertow a-hissin'.

When I reach that last big shoal
Where the ground swells break asunder,
Where the wild sands roll to the surges toll.
Let me be a man and take it
When my dory fails to make it.

Take me back to that snug green cove
Where the seas roll up their thunder.
There let me rest in the earth's cool breast
Where the stars shine out their wonder -
And the seas roll up their thunder.
Ode to Newfoundland

Governor Sir Cavendish Boyle composed the words to this beloved anthem in 1902, as a four-verse poem entitled Newfoundland. British composer Sir Hubert Parry, a personal friend of Boyle, set the poem to music. On May 20, 1904 it was chosen as Newfoundland's official national anthem (national being understood as a self-governing Dominion of the British Empire on par with Canada, South Africa, Australia and other former British colonies). This distinction was dropped when Newfoundland joined the Canadian Confederation in 1949. Three decades later, in 1980, the province re-adopted the song as an official provincial anthem, the first province in Canada to do so.

Excursion Around the Bay

This well-loved Newfoundland folk song was written by Johnny Burke (1851-1930), a renowned balladeer from St. John’s. The tune has been popularized by the world famous Newfoundland band Great Big Sea.

Sarah

"Sarah", a song much beloved in Newfoundland, spins a fine tale of comic romance as a young couple tries to outwit the girl’s ferocious mother. This arrangement, by renowned Canadian composer Stephen Hatfield, features lots of story-telling, character-playing and exchanges between the various sections of the choir.

Marguerite

Scott explains the history of the song: "Written by a young man very much under the influence of Stan Rogers' songwriting, "Marguerite" was composed in haste in a basement apartment in Western Newfoundland, inspired by a few paragraphs in a Reader's Digest History of Canada. Since then, the song has had an eventful afterlife. "Marguerite" was first used in a play in Corner Brook. It then passed from singer to singer across the island of Newfoundland until it caught the ear of noted Canadian composer Stephen Hatfield, who arranged it for choir and published it (without the songwriter's knowledge), assuming it was a traditional song. True to the obliging and generous nature of Newfoundlanders, everyone Mr. Hatfield asked about the song swore that it was an old ballad and remembered her mother singing it around the house! The song was also beautifully recorded by Geraldine Hollett of the award-winning Newfoundland trio The Once, and included on the band's self-titled debut album."
Brass Band of the Cove

The song won the second place prize in the first Atlantic Voices choral competition. Composed by Kurt Walther of Ottawa, this song commemorates the brass band tradition of the Newfoundland and Labrador outports.

The Sealers’ Ball

This humorous song of the seal fishery (or “swilin’”) appears in Kenneth Peacock’s collection "Songs of the Newfoundland Outports". Peacock collected it in Ottawa from Tom Morry, formerly of Ferryland, NF. Morry learned it on the south coast of Newfoundland, although he thought that it might have originated on the northeast coast. The sealers in the song would have received enough money for their day’s work to buy two gallons of rum from the merchants James Baird and Company (“Jimmy Baird” in the song), as well as an extra dollar for carrying the seal pelts to the store. In 2009, Kathleen Allan arranged “The Sealers’ Ball” for the Newman Sound Men’s Choir as the second movement of “The Salty Suite.”

The Rock Called Newfoundland

This song was written by one of the keystones of Atlantic Voices, Hannie Fitzgerald. In her own words: “In March, 2009, while I was walking to church and thinking about our choir’s first song-writing contest, the words of the chorus popped into my head and I hastily wrote them down. The verses took me a few more days to sort out. The song portrays Newfoundland in ways that visitors to the Island might recall, depending what they saw, as well as what the weather was like during their visit. To enable a choir of mixed voices to sing it, I added the harmony in February of this year.”

Sing-along: I’se the B’y

According to the Canadian Encyclopedia, I’se the B’y is a “Newfoundland folksong, of unknown authorship… the lyrics of which reflect Newfoundlanders’ dependence on the sea.”
http://www.thecanadianencyclopedia.com/articles/emc/is-the-by

Sing-along: Feller from Fortune

According to Wikipedia, Feller from Fortune is “a Newfoundland folk song, collected by Margaret Sargent and Kenneth Peacock in Newfoundland in 1950/1, and first appeared in print in the mid-1950s.”
Jack Was Every Inch a Sailor

This well-known Newfoundland song actually started life as an American stage song first printed in Boston in 1884. Fishermen along the Atlantic Coast picked it up and made it their own. “Bacalhao” means codfish in Portuguese -- it is an island off Newfoundland that was home to an important lighthouse. Indian Harbour was an important cod fishing centre on the Labrador coast. The tune was made widely-known through the popular folksong collections published by St. John’s pharmacist Gerald Doyle. We are pleased to present the song in a brand-new arrangement (with a touch of calypso flavour) by Janet Stachow, Associate Music Director of The Oakville Children’s Choir.

Ode to Labrador

This song is generally accepted as the unofficial anthem of Labrador. It was written out in 1927 by Dr. Harry L. Paddon to the well-known tune of "O Tannenbaum". Dr. Paddon spent many years delivering health care for the Grenfell Mission along the coast of Labrador in the early part of the 20th century."

My Labrador Rug

Dr. Wilfred Grenfell spent his life providing medical care to the coastal communities of Newfoundland and Labrador. Discovering that the women made beautiful and distinctive rugs from old scraps of clothing, he launched an initiative in the early 1900s to help sell the rugs and bring much needed revenue to the outport villages and his medical mission. Dr. Grenfell also ran a campaign to encourage socialites in cities to donate their silk stockings to the cause, using the catchphrase “When your stockings run, let them run to Labrador.” The text of this song is adapted from a poem on display at the Grenfell Interpretation Centre in St. Anthony, Newfoundland. Sheldon Rose composed the music for the High Park Choirs of Toronto, who first presented it at Festival 500 in St. John's in 2007.

The Wreck of the S.S. Ethie

Ed English was captain of the Steamship Ethie on Dec. 10th, 1919 when she was set upon by a fierce winter gale and shipwrecked on a shoal near Martin's Point, Bonne Bay, Newfoundland. All 92 on board were saved, including a baby who was sent ashore in a mail bag. Captain English was presented with an award for his seamanship during this disaster.

The English family have been seafarers in Newfoundland since 1847. One of the Captain’s grandsons, also named Ed English, operates
Linkum Tours out of Cornerbrook, Newfoundland and also is co-owner of two inns, both of which are lighthouses. One is the Cape Anguille Lighthouse and the other is on Quirpon Island. We are very pleased that Ed had made a donation to our silent auction today.

In another song on today’s program, “Marguerite”, there is reference to the island at the northernmost tip of Newfoundland, the “Isle des Demons”. That island is Quirpon.

The Al Pittman Suite (1st and 2nd movements)

Kathleen Allan composed “The Al Pittman Suite” for the Quintessential Vocal Ensemble of St. John’s, directed by Susan Quinn. The Suite was debuted in Ottawa during the Association of Canadian Choral Communities’ Podium 2012 conference. We present two of the suite’s three movements. The texts of “Searston Beach” and “Angels” come from Newfoundland poet Al Pittman’s 1968 collection “Seaweed and Rosaries”. Searston is located in the Codroy Valley on the west coast of Newfoundland.

Sing-along: Let Me Fish off Cape St. Mary’s

The headland of Cape St. Mary’s is located at the southern tip of the south-western arm of Newfoundland’s Avalon Peninsula. Otto Kelland wrote this beautiful song in 1947, and it has become one of the true gems of traditional Newfoundland music.

Song for Newfoundland

Written by Wayne Chaulk and originally recorded by “Buddy Wasisname and the Other Fellers,” this song has been recorded by many traditional Newfoundland artists. It celebrates the rugged beauty of the land. Many thanks to Jonathan Monro for the use of this unpublished arrangement.
Many thanks to all our generous Silent Auction Donors!

Our Mascot

SS Maritime Atlantiïka

The Atlantic Voices Mascot is a Newfoundland Dog named ‘SS Maritime Atlantiïka CDX DDX WRD CGN’ (meaning Companion Dog Excellent, Draft Dog Excellent, Water Rescue Dog, and Canine Good Neighbour), a.k.a. “Tiika”. Tiika was born July 18th, 2007. As is common of her breed, Tiika loves people, especially children, and is very gentle. Like many of the Atlantic Voices choir members, Tiika’s genes go back to the island of Newfoundland. Her ancestors loved the sea and the people of the island. These strong waterdogs were loyal and loving companions who worked very hard on shore and at sea. They pulled in fishing nets, delivered mail, and hauled logs from the forests. They often served as ‘living lifelines’, rescuing people from the sea. Tiika is proud to be the Mascot of Atlantic Voices and hopes that you will love the songs of the sea as much she does!
Some interesting facts about Newfoundland and Labrador

- Although Newfoundland and Labrador is Canada’s youngest province, it is home to North America’s oldest settlement and its oldest city.
- Newfoundland’s flag, based on the Union Jack and ancient Beothuk and Innu ornamentation, was created by local artist Christopher Pratt in 1980. The colour white represents snow and ice; the colour blue represents the sea; the colour red represents human effort; the colour gold represents confidence in ourselves.
- Though unofficial, the Labrador flag was designed in 1973 by Michael Martin. The colour white represents snow; the colour green represents land; the colour blue represents the lakes and waters of Labrador. The three branches of the twig symbolize Labrador’s three people: the Inuit, the Innu and European settlers.
- The official provincial flower is the pitcher plant.
- The official bird is the puffin.
- The official game bird is the ptarmigan.
- The official tree is the black spruce.
- The official mineral is Labradorite.
- The official motto is: Quaerite primum regni dei (Seek first the kingdom of God).
